

Dear Juergen

Many of you know that we feature live musik here every night, but are you familiar with the players? We have accordions, accordion duos with a variety of other instruments, and two different German bands. We take requests, have sing a longs, and do the chicken dance. You can dance also, if a song suits your dancing style. Fun for the entire family! For a list of who is playing, click here for the event calendar!

AlpenMusikanten

The AlpenMusikanten have been playing together since 1990. Originally it was only a trio, comprised of Alan Walling, Wolfgang Lackner and Manfred Zehentmayr. Gordon Strand joined shortly after, followed by former AlpenMusikanten drummer Clayton Paul (who eventually moved back to his native Little Rock, AR). Clayton Paul was replaced by the AlpenMusikanten's current drummer, Paul Durapau, who has been a full time member since 2005.

Alpen means Alps or Alpine, and Musikanten means simply musicians. Hence, Alpine Musicians.

They cover everything from polkas, waltzes, sambas, cajun, big band, swing, dixieland,all the way to rock and blues, or whatever other style of music you can think of. It's all about providing their faithful fans with whatever they are in the mood to listen to. Where else are you able to hear Freebird on an accordion, or a German version of Another Brick in the Wall.

We are lucky here at the Bavarian Grill to have AlpenMusikanten play here in our Biergarten on every third Saturday evening.

The Kapelle (German for Band) can trace its beginnings to the early 1950's as a small ensemble called the "Frohsinn Schrammelkapelle" formed to accompany the "Dallas Frohsinn Singing Society." The Singing Society itself, also known as "Gesangverein Frohsinn" was formed in 1877 to help preserve German song, language and culture were also in Dallas. The original members of the Kapelle members of the Singing Society. In the early 1980's, it evolved into a full-sized Band called the "Frohsinn Kapelle".

It was then organized as a non-profit entity independent of the Dallas Frohsinn Singing Society. In addition to becoming a staple at the annual Addison Oktoberfest and playing at Jim Rommel plays accordion, and he yodels! When he is in the dining room, he provides music sheets so everyone can sing along. Yodeling along is up to you.

Svetlana Ivanchenko is a professional Russian musician who came to the United States five years ago. In 2012 she was representing USA in an International contest in Rome, Italy. She enjoys playing classical German lively and informed performances of Bach, Handel, Vivaldi, Purcell, Monteverdi, Couperin, and Schütz: all the great music from the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries both masterpieces familiar to music lovers, and those awaiting their discovery.

Matt Tolentino plays here at Bavarian Grill on Thursday evenings. A talented accordion player, he gets the crowd going!

Matt Tolentino, who shares a birthday with Fred Astaire, was born May 10, 1985 in Dallas, TX. He was not born 80 years too late- rather, he is placed in the perfect time- the present day- to preserve the music of generations past, to bring the music of yesterday to the modern audience of today.

Kleine Blasmusik plays here in our Biergarten on the second Saturday of every month. They are a very popular 10 piece brass band playing traditional Polkas, popular Bavarian songs and moving marches Pours dark in color with moderate to heavy amounts of visible carbonation. The beer has a finger tall white head that quickly reduces to a thin film covering the majority of the surface of the beer and a thin ring at the edges of the glass. Light to moderate amounts of lacing are observed.

Moderate to strong aromas of bready and caramel malts with just a touch of grassy hops.

Similar to the smell, there are moderate to strong flavors of bread and caramel malts with just a touch of honey sweetness. That is followed by some grainy malts and just a touch of fruity yeast. There is a light to moderate amount of lingering bitterness.

Just shy of medium bodied with moderate to heavy amounts of carbonation. Slightly dry in the finish. Crisp.
